OVERVIEW

I am an enthusiastic React.js/Next.js developer with a solid technical background, complemented by an engineering degree. Additionally, I am a versatile and dynamic individual, having expertise in developing user interfaces and integrating APIs with the client. My experience includes collaborating with companies in Silicon Valley, where I played a key role in building cutting-edge web applications acknowledged as top performers in their respective industries by G2.

WORK EXPERIENCE

STARZPLAY

Web Technology Engineer

(January 2023 - Present)

- Developing custom UI from scratch from the provided invision Designs. Making sure the developed designs were responsive on mobile, tablets, and laptops/desktops.
- Making reusable components to maintain readable code and make debugging easier.
- Using Redux Saga to keep track of all API calls and enhance the user experience by nullifying extra API calls, reducing overall waiting time.
- Writing API calls in the Node.js(Express.js) middleware(s) and calling them via sdk(s).
- Memoizing functions and components to avoid unnecessary re-renders which in return enhances the user's overall experience.
- Decreasing interactivity delays by applying cached API calls on the client side.

xiQ Inc.

(1 year, 6 months)

Front End Developer

(July 2021 - December 2022)

- Converting wireframes into interactive web applications all the while following good coding conventions.
- Breaking down the application into small, meaningful, and reusable components to minimize re-renders and harness the full potential of React.
- Coding within the scope of the previously used norms to achieve maximum code readability.
- Profiling, Troubleshooting, and Bug fixes that helped in increasing the overall system performance.

Phenologix

(1 year, 7 months)

Software Engineer

(December 2020 - June 2021)

- Developing Web Applications and Systems with complete roles management, permissions control, and Admin controls.

- Implementing the Business knowledge into the applications and delivering the work as required by the end customer using UI mockups.
- Migrating previously developed applications to the newer versions of the technologies without hindering functionality.

Associate Software Engineer

(December 2019 - November 2020)

- Developed the Front-end components using Material UI and Ant Design and custom themes.
- Making sure the website was completely cross-platform supported and responsive.
